

Crouse says: Kevin Jennings Must Go

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16 /Christian Newswire/ -- Dr. Janice Shaw Crouse, Director and Senior Fellow of Concerned Women for America's Beverly LaHaye Institute, wonders, "Where is the outrage over Kevin Jennings' appointment as President Obama's 'safe schools czar'?" She said, "Kevin comes from a career of promoting dangerously violent homosexual activities among children in public schools. His life and career are proof that his whole raison d'être is to promote homosexuality among children and teens. There is something so fundamentally wrong with the President's appointment that parents and all adults who care about children's well-being must demand that Kevin Jennings be fired immediately."

Dr. Crouse served with Jennings on a task force organized by former Surgeon General David Satcher charged with the responsibility of finding "common ground" between left-right activist scholars for "responsible sexual behavior." During that time, she found Kevin to be charming and friendly, but his charm, she said "tends to obscure his total and overwhelming commitment and dedication to mainstreaming homosexual behavior, especially among students."

Before his political appointment, Kevin headed GLSEN. She asks, "How can the media continue to ignore such information about the person heading up the nation's 'safe schools' initiatives? It is obvious that GLSEN provides materials designed to teach children how to engage in dangerously violent homosexual activities. Yet, the former head of that organization was chosen to design materials for public schools and represent the federal government at the local school level?"

Crouse concluded, "Will we stand silently by while political appointees like Kevin implement a militant homosexual agenda to indoctrinate America's children and teens?"

Concerned Women for America is the nation's largest public policy women's organization.
